SideBar is a modular desk system that efficiently supports diverse work styles and workplace environments.

SideBar's collection of desks, bench dividers and storage units easily accommodates any work style, including benching, private and semi-private applications within an open office environment.

Shared workspaces can be individualized with multi-functional storage components.

Varying levels of bench dividers and storage heights create unique visual planes within the workspace, providing a break from monotonous “cube farms”. SideBar fits the style of any interior environment and delivers value based on its flexible design and breadth of component options.

Define space within open environments.

Strategically structure and define individual workspaces with different storage configurations. Create boundaries for private areas or define collaborative zones within open concept environments. Intelligent, dual sided storage elements combined with multi-height storage and staggered credenzas optimize compressed footprints, letting you do more in less space.

Power and data when you want it.

A slim design power and data trough allows easy open access to duplexes and data plates. Easily reach power and data through center cutouts in the work-surface, or add surface-mounted power/data modules for desk-height access.
